

Competition 10: LINGO

To prepare for this competition, you should play through LINGO: Where words are a matter of life and death, linked below.

From the conversation in this game, you have learnt quite a lot of words of different kinds, and you can now test yourself with some more complicated questions:

1. Can you identify two verbs, and give their meanings?
2. Can you identify two nouns?
3. Can you find three ways of indicating possession (my, your, his/her)?
4. What's the most likely meaning of primstick in the conversation?
5. How do you say "to drink" in this language?
6. What are the 1st, 2nd and 3rd person singular endings of verbs?
7. If "home" = heimo, "in" = o, how would you say: "I want to go to my country"?

Your competition entry should attempt to answer as many of these questions as possible, and if relevant explain the reasoning behind your answers. Your competition entry can be in the form of a short essay, or you can address each question in a numbered list, and it should be between 300-500 words in length.
